

The continuous evolution of the information society, the convergence of media and emergence of non-traditional actors raise new questions and new challenges for media and communication policies. The 1st Council of Europe Conference of Ministers responsible for Media and New Communication Services (Reykjavik, 28-29 May 2009) gathered representatives of civil society, youth and the business community in order to assess social, cultural and technological changes in the media and communications landscape and to determine the direction of the Council of Europe's future work in this field.

Following this multi-stakeholder approach adopted by the Council of Europe Steering Committee on Media and New Communication Services (CDMC), it would be of great help if we could receive feedback on the Conference from civil society and other interested parties, as well as your views of possible future cooperation with the CDMC.

We would therefore be grateful if you could give us your brief answers and comments regarding the following questionnaire:

QUESTIONNAIRE

Name of Organization/Stakeholder: _____

1. Ministerial Conference in Reykjavik

1.1 Did you attend the Conference in Reykjavik? YES NO

1.2 If YES, did you find the Conference useful? YES NO

1.3 If YES, could you briefly explain why? If NO, why not?

1.4. Did your organization made any contribution in planning the Conference programme? YES NO

1.5 If YES, were your views taken into consideration?

1.6. Did your organization made any contribution in drafting the Conference documents that were adopted ? YES NO

1.7 If YES, were your views taken into consideration?

2. Future activities of the CDMC

2.1. Has your organization had any relations with the CDMC so far? YES NO

2.2. If YES, what were your impressions?

2.3. What could the CDMC do to enhance the involmment of civil society and other stakeholders in its work?

2.4 Please add any additional information or suggestions that you think could be useful:

Thank you for replying!